COURSE GUIDELINES & EXPECTATIONS

Hours of banter, pages of writing, and thousands of dollars of research have been devoted to answering one of the most popular and elusive questions about entrepreneurship: “What Makes a Successful Entrepreneur?”. Is it a personality trait? Can entrepreneurship be learned? Can it be taught? What kind of person does it require? Can anyone become this kind of person, or are certain people born for the entrepreneurial life? This course will provide an opportunity to discuss the answers to these questions.

The second, and major, focus of this course is on developing a Business Plan. People buy products and services to solve problems and if an existing solution is working, they will resist changing. Thus, the search for new opportunities should start with people who have problems that are not being solved to their satisfaction. If an idea solves a problem better than what is currently available, but people are satisfied with the current solution, they are unlikely to switch, no matter how much better one thinks their alternative is. This is human nature! However, if the old solution is not acceptable then one should develop a clear understanding of why a group of users finds the current solution unsuitable and determine what a better solution would look like. This indicates an opportunity worth investigating.

BUS 280 is a fast-paced, demanding course, with a substantial team project to complete. However, it can also be a lot of fun. Students are expected to read the assigned material before class.

Please be prepared to take part in discussions, ask questions and contribute from your experience
