INDIVIDUAL WORK (60%)

The critical role of ongoing preparation before class and in-class engagement is considered in the assessment mix for this course. This portion of your grade has four components, detailed below:

- Class Preparation Discussion Posts (36%): Prior to our in-person sessions each week, you will complete a brief individual discussion post (two to three sentences). Detailed instructions will be provided for each Discussion Topic in D2L. Discussions will involve cases and questions where you will apply course concepts that you have read about in the assigned textbook prereading to the assigned prereading case for that week (see Course Schedule for assigned readings). During our weekly in-person session, you will share your post with other students and continue the discussions. These initial preparation posts are graded as complete or incomplete (i.e., pass/fail) based on demonstrating familiarity with the assigned prereading (textbook and case study). There are nine preparation posts in total and each post is worth 4% of your final grade. To be eligible for full marks for a Class Prep Post, class attendance is required. If you are unable to attend a scheduled class due to extenuating circumstances please contact the instructor before the scheduled class to request alternate accommodations.

- End of Course Reflection Paper (20%): This individual provides you with an opportunity to delve more deeply into certain course topics. There are two parts to this assignment. In Part 1, you will identify and discuss key learnings from two of the required course case studies and in Part 2 you will identify and assess your personal key takeaways from one of the articles about alternative perspectives on Strategic Management. The grading rubrics and additional details/expectations for this assignment is available on D2L. Use these grading rubrics as a key guideline for preparing your assignments.
- Team Meeting Engagement (2%): In Weeks 11 and 13 of the course, scheduled class time will be used to facilitate mandatory meetings between each team and the instructor. The goal of these meetings is to review progress to date on the Team Led Seminar and identify opportunities for strengthening the seminar before it is presented. Each team will meet with the instructor for 20-30 minutes. All team members are expected to be present for this meeting. If you are unable to attend the meeting due to extenuating circumstances please contact your team and the instructor before the scheduled meeting.
- Seminar Engagement (2%): In Weeks 12 and 14, teams will facilitate their seminars in class. Audience attendance and engagement is critical to the success of these seminars. This portion of the grade is split across the two weeks (i.e. 1% for attending Week 12 seminars and 1% for attending Week 14 seminars). If you are unable to attend any seminars to extenuating circumstances please contact your the instructor before the scheduled class to discuss alternate accommodations.

TEAM PROJECT (40%)

Student teams will be created in class (see Course Schedule). Each student team will focus on one organization to research and critically assess using strategic management concepts and frameworks. The team will take the position of management consultants to the chosen organization. This portion of your grade has four components, detailed below.

- Team Contract (5%): All teams will need to submit a team contract that outlines their team member roles, team norms, communication mode and a brief plan for how they will complete the major team project deliverables. A template for this is available on D2L.
- Team Discussion Posts (20%): Each week (Weeks 6-10), your team will complete one team discussion post that applies key concepts covered in the previous class to your selected organization. Detailed instructions will be provided for each Discussion Topic in D2L. The expectation is that these team posts are generated through team discussion and debate in a team synchronous meeting. These team posts will be graded according to the Team Post Rubric available on D2L. Use this grading rubric as a key guideline for preparing your team post. The grading rubric considers both your team's understanding of relevant course concepts and your team's ability to apply these concepts to your selected organization based on information that you are able to access about your organization, and your team process. This critical analysis relies significantly on the ability to collect and assess relevant secondary sources on the organization's internal and external environment. All secondary sources must be cited.
- Team Led Seminar (15%): In Weeks 12 and 14, each team will lead an interactive seminar with the class. This seminar is the team's opportunity to effectively synthesize and present verbally and visually the key ideas developed in their discussion posts as if they were speaking directly to the senior managers at the organization studied. The purpose of this seminar is to critically analyze strategic management activities for your organization (i.e. the client) and provide recommendations for action. These team led seminars will be graded according to the Team Seminar Rubric available on D2L. Use this grading rubric as a key guideline for preparing your team presentation.
- Peer/Self Review: After the Team Project is completed, students will complete a peer/self-evaluation which includes qualitative feedback (i.e., written comments) and quantitative ratings (i.e., numerical evaluations) of team members' contributions. While there are no marks for this exercise, there will be a penalty for failure to submit by due date. Results from this Peer/Self Review will be used to calculate individual grades for the team project in instances where contributions differed among team members or for lack of submission. See D2L for a copy of the Peer/Self Review form.
