COURSE GUIDELINES & EXPECTATIONS

Students will engage in the praxis of theory and practice within the rich child care centres they belong, fulfilling coursework commitments as they move through individualized learning journeys.

Learning outcomes will be explored alongside children, colleagues, families, instructors and the wider community. Students are expected to participate with dispositions that include curiosity and wonder as they collect traces of practice (page 54 of the BC Early Learning Framework, 2019) and share learning with instructors, and classmates.

In the sharing of experiences, students will connect practice back to theory and generate ongoing questions, and places for further inquiry.

Attending all scheduled meetings (community of practice, webinars, and large gatherings) will be an essential part of both a student's evolving professional practice and a mechanism for meeting all learning outcomes. Students are asked to inform instructors and community of practice members of absences, allowing for time to make plans enabling alternate possibilities to demonstrate learning.

Students will be expected to demonstrate clear and professional communication with instructors and classmates at all times.
