COURSE GUIDELINES & EXPECTATIONS

How to navigate this course

This is an online asynchronous course. The course information and content are provided online in our Learning Management System – Desire to Learn (D2L). We will also use the MyEconLab platform to access Study Plan practice questions and to complete the quizzes and exams.

The Course Information Module in the Content tab in D2L contains the course outline as well as registrations instructions for MyEconLab. I encourage you to take the time at the start of the semester to review the information and become familiar with the features and navigation in both of these systems (D2L and myeconlab).

Careful time management is important especially for an online course. Be sure to keep up with the pace of the course as scheduled in D2L and the course outline. At the start of the term, I encourage you to make a note of all due dates associated with the course and set appropriate reminders. Remember to set up your notifications in D2L to receive timely updates.

Check the News tool in D2L regularly to get the course updates and announcements.

The D2L Content module for each week contains the lecture videos, power point notes, practice questions videos and corresponding notes. After becoming familiar with these materials in D2L, you will access the Study plan questions in MyEconLab for the respective chapter. The study plan is interactive – you can access help for each question, for example. This approach to following the course content will help you prepare for the quizzes and exams.

The Discussion tool in D2L is used for our Discussion forums scheduled throughout the term.

The interim grades for the discussion forums and the midterm are posted in D2L. You can review your quiz marks in myeconlab during the term. In the end of the term, the final percentage score for all course components is provided in D2L and the corresponding letter grade is transferred to myCamosun.

Quizzes:

Throughout the semester you will complete 7 quizzes on the MyEconLab platform. Each quiz covers approximately 2 chapters. The purpose of the quizzes is to help you keep up with the material and prepare for the exams and in-class activities. Before you attempt a quiz, I strongly encourage you to review the questions from the respective chapters in the Study Plan in MyEconLab. The Study Plan is interactive and provides you with solutions and explanations. I have customized the Study Plan based on the course coverage.

The quiz due dates and times are given in the course schedule above. Each quiz will open on a Tuesday and you will have until Tuesday of the following week to complete it.

The lowest two quiz marks will be dropped and the rest will determine your total quiz grade. You will have 3 attempts and unlimited time for each quiz (during the week when the quiz is open for completion). Your best attempt (of the three) will be used for your grade.. You can review your quiz results in myeconlab at any time after the due date.

There will be no-make-ups for missed quizzes. If you miss a quiz, it will count as one of your dropped quizzes.

Quiz coverage:

Quiz 1 – Chapters 1 and 2

Quiz 2 – Chapters 3 and 4

Quiz 3 – Chapters 5 and 6

Quiz 4 – Chapters 16.3, 17 and 19

Quiz 5 – Chapters 7 and 8

Quiz 6 – Chapters 9 and 10

Quiz 7 – Chapter 11 and 12

Discussion forums:

During the term you will participate in several discussion forums which are set up in D2L. Each forum is dedicated to a specific topic in the course. This is an opportunity to research and discuss the application of the course concepts for analysing business decision-making, consumer choices and government regulation. Each forum will open and close in the respective week given in the course outline. Additional guidelines about discussion forum posts and participation are provided in D2L.

Each discussion forums opens on a Tuesday. Note that each discussion takes place in two parts – in the first part, you will prepare and submit your answer to the discussion question by Friday at 11:59pm of the respective week; in the second part, you will review the submissions of others in the class and prepare a response to one person by the following Tuesday, 11:59pm.

The purpose of the discussion forums is to provide an opportunity for applied learning by exchanging ideas and interacting with others in class. The nature of this activity does not allow for make-ups or extensions.

Discussion forum topics:

Discussion forum 1 – Demand and supply: Housing prices

Discussion forum 2 – Government regulated prices: min wage

Discussion forum 3 – Environmental regulation: Carbon tax

Discussion forum 4 – International trade: Trade sanctions

Discussion forum 5 – Price Discrimination: Examples of pricing strategies

Exams:

The midterm exam date and time is given in the course schedule above.

The final exam will be scheduled by Student Services and will take place online during the final exam period. The exams are not cumulative. The approximate coverage for each exam is as follows:

Midterm exam – Chapters 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6

Final exam – Chapter 16.3, 17, 19, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12

The exam questions are similar to the Practice Questions we cover in each chapter as well as the Quiz questions in MyEconLab. The exams are “open book”. Guidelines and suggestions about exam preparation will be discussed closer to the scheduled exam dates.

Academic integrity and use of artificial intelligence:

At the start of the course, everyone will have an opportunity to complete the Academic Integrity course through the Camosun Library (you will find instructions in D2L and I will also explain in class). The course provides explanations and examples of academic integrity. It is free and takes under an hour to complete online. You will receive 2 bonus marks upon submitting proof of completion (as outlined in D2L).

Artificial intelligence and its use in education (and elsewhere) have been widely discussed lately. The policy on the use of AI in this course is as follows: It is perfectly fine to use and benefit from the capabilities of AI to assist in your learning, look up information, seek explanation of concepts, examples, etc. However, running assignment questions through AI and presenting the answer as your own (“copy and paste”) constitutes cheating and will be reported as such under the policy on academic integrity: <http://camosun.ca/about/policies/education-academic/e-1-programming-and-instruction/e-1.13.pdf>

For more information about the use of AI in teaching and learning, review the library’s guide to AI: <https://camosun.libguides.com/artificialintelligence>
