COURSE GUIDELINES & EXPECTATIONS

D2L site for the course:

You will find a companion site for this course on the Learning Management System platform – Desire to Learn (D2L). I strongly encourage you to become familiar with the materials available on this site and check the site regularly for updates. I use the News feature to make announcements and provide course updates.

In the Content section you will find modules corresponding to each week of the semester as well as a general Course Information Module. The weekly modules contain pre-recorded lecture videos, power point notes, chapter summaries, and practice questions videos and solution notes.

The interim grades during the term will be posted on D2L.

I strongly encourage you to set up your notifications on D2L to receive timely updates.

Quizzes:

Throughout the semester you will take about 11 quizzes on the MyEconLab platform. Each quiz covers approximately 1 chapter. The purpose of the quizzes is to help you keep up with the material and prepare for the exams. Before you attempt a quiz, I strongly encourage you to review the questions from the respective chapters in the Study Plan in MyEconLab. The Study Plan is interactive and provides you with solutions and explanations

The quiz due dates and times are provided tentatively in the course schedule above, and it is students' responsibility to check the due dates on MyEconLab. Each quiz will usually open on a Tuesday and you will have six days complete it.

The lowest two 2 marks will be dropped and the rest will determine your total quiz grade. You will have 3 attempts and unlimited time for each quiz – your best attempt (of the three) will be used for your grade. Each quiz is “open book” and you have unlimited time to complete it before the due date. You can review your quiz results at any time after the due date.

There will be no-make-ups for missed quizzes. If you miss a quiz, it will count as one of your dropped quizzes.

MyEconLab Assignment:

The end-of –term assignment includes questions from the entire course coverage. It is a good opportunity to review the main concepts you have learned in the course prior to the final exam. Your attendances and participation in class are also part of the evaluation

The Exams:

The midterm exam dates are given in the course schedule above. The final exam will be scheduled by Student Services and will take place during the final exam period. The exams are not cumulative.
