COURSE GUIDELINES & EXPECTATIONS

Time Management. This class requires approximately two to three hours of work per week outside of class time, not including essay writing and research. Ongoing completion of this work is necessary for improvement of the skills presented in class. For some people, managing time for class work alongside other life commitments is a real struggle for students. But there is help! Tips and tools to help you with time management can be found here: <https://camosun.libguides.com/Time/management> Attendance and Punctuality. Class attendance is mandatory. Class time consists of lecture, discussion, and writing practice, so missing class means missing opportunities to learn with your peers, to strengthen and hone your writing and oral communication skills, and to be a part of the class community. Of course, there may be times when you need to be absent. At these times, it is your responsibility to catch up on any missed work, so I recommend finding a dependable friend or two at the beginning of term and swapping contact details so you can get the information you missed.

Please come to class on time—arriving late is disruptive and you miss out on instruction. Students habitually arriving late may be denied permission to join the class.

Assignments and Quizzes. Assignments are due at the beginning of class on the dates listed on the schedule. Computer problems are not an excuse for late submissions. If you must miss a test or the due date of an assignment, please let me know the day before the class at the latest. Late submissions require prior instructor approval or will receive a 10% deduction and will not receive feedback. Assignments will not be accepted one week after the deadline without prior instructor approval. Note that all writing assignments must be completed to receive a passing grade in the course.

- Typed assignments must be submitted in hard copy and uploaded to D2L.
- If you miss a quiz, you must contact me before the quiz and write it within one week; once quizzes are returned to the class, they can no longer be written.
- Please keep a copy of all the assignments you submit in case work is lost, damaged, or misplaced, and save all graded assignments until the completion of the course.

Electronics. Mobile phones, laptops, translators, and other electronic devices are allowed in class only with instructor permission. Otherwise, electronics should be turned off and kept out of sight.

Instructor Contact

- Office Hours. Come see me! I'm always happy to discuss assignments, graded work, grammar, writing, drafts, literature, the course, etc. with students during office hours. If my posted office hours don't fit, let me know and we'll find a time that suits us both.
- Email. Please use email for short and simple questions only (office hours are for longer queries). If I haven't responded to your email within 24 hours Monday-Friday, assume I didn't get it and resend. (I'm never ignoring you 😊)

English Help Center (EHC). Rm. E202. Use the EHC! The instructional assistants at the EHC provide one-on-one support for assignments and writing, including organizing ideas, helping with grammar, generating thesis statements, providing essay feedback before submission, etc.

Students can book online at <http://camosun.ca/services/writing-centre/appointments.html>.

Classroom Community. It takes everyone to create a respectful, supportive, collaborative, enjoyable, and productive learning environment. When we participate with integrity and sensitivity--mindful of how our words, actions, and attitudes affect others--and when we listen, consider, and value differing viewpoints, great conversation and growth happens!

Artificial Intelligence (AI) Usage. The purpose of this writing course is for students to practice and hone their thinking, drafting, researching, and writing skills. Using AI applications (such as Chat GPT) defeats this purpose and so is simply not allowed in this course. The use of generative AI in this course is considered cheating and will be treated that way.

Plagiarism. You are expected to do your own writing and use your own ideas (unless properly cited) on all assignments. You may get feedback on your writing from the Help Centres (and please do!). However, copying another's writing; having someone else write all or even part of your composition; using another person's ideas without correct acknowledgement; and using another's sentence structures, while merely replacing words and phrases, are all plagiarism and will incur any or all of the penalties stated in the college calendar.

STUDENT RESPONSIBILITY

Enrolment at Camosun assumes that the student will become a responsible member of the College community. As such, each student will display a positive work ethic, assist in the preservation of College property, and assume responsibility for their education by researching academic requirements and policies; demonstrating courtesy and respect toward others; and respecting expectations concerning attendance, assignments, deadlines, and appointments.
