3. Discussion/Reflection:

- Discuss and analyze literature in class;
- Identify a variety of literary approaches and/or theories that can be taken towards a text;
- Articulate one's position in a critical debate of ideas;
- Engage respectfully with different interpretations;
- Reflect on one's own writing for continuous improvement.

REQUIRED MATERIALS & RECOMMENDED PREPARATION / INFORMATION

1. Course pack: English 161: Literary Genres, Course Pack, Instructor: Max Olesen

Notes: Readings from English 161: Literary Genres, Course Pack, Instructor: Max Olesen will be available on D2L as either PDF Scans, or links to online sources will be provided.

2. Plays: Oscar Wilde, The Importance of Being Earnest OR William Shakespeare, Macbeth

Notes: Given the online format, students can choose which one of these two plays they want to work on. These plays by Wilde and Shakespeare have many different editions available for purchase. You are welcome to use different ways to access the texts, and below are links to online versions of the plays that I use myself. Links to these will also be available via D2L.

Online The Importance of Being Earnest: <https://www.gutenberg.org/files/844/844-h/844-h.htm>

Online Macbeth: <https://shakespeare.folger.edu/shakespeares-works/macbeth/>

3. Novel: Kazuo Ishiguro, Never Let Me Go (Vintage Canada Edition, 2010)

Notes: Other editions of this novel exist, however, my notes will be referencing (for example, for page numbers) the edition available at the Camosun Bookstore (It can also be purchased elsewhere at local bookstores and online).

Content Warning:

While this is a course that focuses on fiction, which is inherently intended to present readers with new, unusual, and sometimes challenging ideas, it is important to create a safe and welcoming environment for our class. The content warnings provided are intended to give readers agency in preparing for material that might negatively impact their mental state. I will be providing individual content warnings for texts as needed, but certain texts in the class contain discussions and depictions of death/dying, violence/gore, murder, political violence, child abuse/endorsement, psychological distress, intrusive thoughts/obsessive behaviour, eating disorders, paranoia, misogynistic attitudes, sexual harassment, ghosts/spirits, the afterlife, poverty, antiquated views of mental health, medical malpractice and abuse, and disregard for personal autonomy.

If the content discussed in these texts may upset you, please contact me to discuss, if you feel safe and comfortable doing so. If you need to discuss the content with a counsellor, you can contact Camosun College Counselling Services: <http://camosun.ca/services/counselling-centre/>. If I have overlooked troubling content in a specific text's content warning, I apologize sincerely and assure you that I will try to do better in the future. Any clarification that you feel safe and comfortable offering is welcomed and appreciated.

Assignment Expectations:

All specific instructions and formatting requirements for assignments will be provided on their respective assignment sheets.

Assignment submissions: Please submit assignments to their assigned D2L drop-box by 11:59 pm (PST) on their due dates.

Requests for formal extensions will be considered on an individual basis in discussion with the instructor.

Due dates: While we live in a particularly challenging time, and I aim to be flexible and understanding, due dates are there to help us move through class at a smooth, manageable pace. However, if an assignment is unavoidably late, it will receive a grade, but no comments. Late assignments will receive a grade, but no comments. If an assignment is more than a week late without a formal extension, it will lose 5% per day, including weekends, until it is submitted.

Plagiarism takes many forms. From the Camosun College School of Arts & Science Academic Honesty Guidelines (<https://legacy.camosun.ca/learn/school/arts-science/images/Arts%20and%20Science%20Academic%20Honesty%20Guidelines.pdf>) "As per Camosun College policy, plagiarism includes, but is not limited to, the following: submitting an entire assignment written or made/created by someone else or based on collaboration with others; incorporating or paraphrasing passages from any source, including internet sites, without citations; submitting an assignment that an editor or tutor has partially or entirely rewritten for you; submitting any portion of a group project which contains plagiarism; submitting anything created with input from a group as your own individual work." Plagiarism will be met with serious consequences at Camosun College, as outlined in the Academic Honesty Guidelines. If you have difficulty completing assignments, please contact me for help, do not plagiarize.

Class Environment:

This course is an inclusive, non-judgmental, and respectful space: While it is an online course, our class is a shared environment wherein we are all learners and collaborators; it is a place where we have fun, learn, and express ourselves. New knowledge is gained when we learn collaboratively and feel connected. Respect for each other, and the many divergent views we will encounter in this course, is a requirement for all participants.

Disagree with one another, but disrespectful language and actions are not tolerated. Please practice judgment, maturity, politeness, and respect in all interactions and communications with your fellow learners and with your instructor. Interpreting literature is a personal experience. If you find that any works or discussion comments troubling to you, please let me know, to the extent you feel safe and comfortable doing so, so that you can be well supported.

Participation will be essential to creating a good online classroom. Being comfortable sharing your views and learning from others can take time, but it will benefit your learning and communication skills. Be curious, record your observations, questions, and ideas as you read, reflect on what we read and discuss, ask questions, and develop your critical thinking skills.

Communication outside class: Check your email and D2L email regularly (and possibly consider linking these accounts, which you must do through D2L), to keep connected with this asynchronous class. To contact you via email, I will use the email address provided to me via myCamosun, which is the email you used to register for classes with; if you do not receive an email message from me within the first week, please let me know. You can connect with me via email or during my virtual office hours listed above.
