- Access to a computer with Internet, access to email, and ability to save assignments is required.

COURSE SCHEDULE, TOPICS, AND ASSOCIATED PREPARATION / ACTIVITY / EVALUATION

The following schedule and course components are subject to change with reasonable advance notice, as deemed appropriate by the instructor.

Section DS07 meets online Monday and Wednesday mornings from 8:30-9:50. Section DS06 meets online Monday and Wednesday evenings from 5:00-6:20pm. Instead of a large group meeting for the whole period both days, each student will meet (online) individually each week the instructor.

This self-paced version of the English 094 course consists of 3 hours of class time (primarily independent course work and meeting individually with the instructor) and 2 hours of lab time per week. Lab time includes but is not limited to additional tutorials with the instructor and/or an instructional assistant, using the instructional resources in the Help Centre and library, and meeting (at no cost to students) with the college's professional writing consultant (virtually or on campus).

Because this is a self-paced course section, learners will follow an individually-adaptable timeline for assignment completion. Learners are expected to consult at least once a week with the instructor and work approximately 10-12 hours/week on assignments (including class time) if they hope to complete the course in one semester. Additional meetings with the writing consultant are expected occasionally throughout the semester, as these meetings are considered lab times for the course.

During class times, the instructor will present group lessons and then meet individually with students. To reduce student wait times and ensure that all students can access the instructor, students might be assigned a specific meeting time for their weekly appointments with the instructor. During the weekly meetings, progress will be recorded, questions will be answered, any confusion will be cleared up, and plans regarding your work over the next few days will be discussed. These meetings are very important for your success in the course, so if you're not able to attend your scheduled meeting on a particular date, please contact the instructor in advance to reschedule it.

Please complete assignments in the order they are assigned and submit each assignment as soon as it is completed. Please follow assignment instructions and ensure that all work submitted for the course is 100% your own thoughts, interpretations, words, and ideas unless research is a required component of the assignment. No portions of the assignments for this course are to be produced by anyone other than the student submitting the assignment. Unless research is a required component of the assignment, do not use in part or in full any information, words, or ideas from any online or published source. Similarly, guidance, editing, or proofreading may not be provided for any assignment for this course by anyone other than the course's instructor and the professional writing consultant for this course. Assignments that require research are clearly identified in the instructions and include appropriate MLA-style source citation as a major component of the assignment, including in-text citations and entries on a properly-formatted works cited page.

Please review the "Academic Honesty Guidelines for Students in the School of Access and IECC" in D2L and let me know if you have questions. This course includes a mini-lesson in the "Welcome Week" assignments to ensure that learners understand academic concerns about plagiarism and how to prevent it.

Students will complete assignments to help them achieve the learning outcomes for the course. Marks will be assigned according to the chart below. The following course components are subject to change with reasonable advance notice, as deemed appropriate by the instructor.
