COURSE LEARNING OUTCOMES / OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of this course a student will be able to:

1. Form critical responses to ideas.

- Distinguish between fact and opinion.
- Analyse and articulate the reasoning behind an argument.
- Demonstrate a critical examination of ideas through close reading, inquiry, divergent thinking, evaluation of evidence and interpretation, as well as an understanding of rhetoric, reason, logic and word usage.
- Produce writing under exam conditions, as well as outside class.
- Differentiate academic and non-academic writing.

2. Write in an academic style common to multiple disciplines.

- Approach writing as an active exploration of multiple perspectives on a topic.
- Compose effective summaries.
- Select and use rhetorical patterns purposefully.
- Employ a comprehensive writing process, which includes prewriting, focusing, planning, multiple drafting, conferring, revising and editing/proofing.
- Develop an argument with a controlling thesis; write unified, coherent paragraphs, including effective introductions, transitions and conclusions in correct, clear, effective English.
- Develop effective, focused research questions.
- Demonstrate control, clarity and cohesion in the development and organization of ideas.
- Vary style purposefully for planned rhetorical strategies.
- Write for specific results.
- Critique his/her own and others' writing.

3. Read and analyze complex texts from various academic disciplines.

- Vary reading approaches for different purposes, such as personal response, persuasion, and criticism.
- Participate and engage in a dynamic, stimulating exchange of ideas based upon close textual readings.
- Discuss and debate text using terminology appropriate to the discipline and context of those texts.
- Analyze textual readings, which may include visual texts, by identifying controlling ideas, supporting details, dominant rhetorical pattern, subtext, tone and stylistic features.
- Summarize readings to reflect coherently the original's ideas, purpose, organization, and tone.
- Critically read your own and others' writing.

4. Demonstrate information literacy skills.

- Determine the nature and extent of the information needed.
- Know and use what information resources are available, in different formats.
- Use print and electronic resources effectively and efficiently.
- Evaluate sources for authority, relevance, reliability, currency and other criteria.
- Incorporate and integrate research through correct use of summary, paraphrase and quotation.
- Document sources fully and ethically, according to specified bibliographic conventions.

5. Develop self-awareness as an academic writer and contributor.

- Articulate one’s position in a critical debate of ideas.
- Reflect on one’s own writing for continuous improvement.

COURSE GUIDELINES & EXPECTATIONS

- Participation mark will be based on attendance, punctuality, homework, discussions, and in-class exercises.
- Because this course emphasizes student participation and discussion, it is essential that students complete the readings ahead of class. Out of respect for the dynamics of classroom conversation, please turn off any electronic devices (computers, cell phones, etc.) during class.
- Late papers will lose 5% per day, and they will receive a grade only.
- Write your own papers! Plagiarism is a serious academic offence that is tracked on your permanent college record. See “Academic Integrity” policy below for details.
- The College provides many services, including a Writing Centre, an English Help Centre, free Counselling, and Financial Aid. See the “Supports and Services for Students” links listed below for details.

JANET’S TIPS FOR SUCCESS IN ENGLISH 151

1. Be punctual and prepared for class: both your physical and your intellectual presence are essential. We are cultivating a community of readers and thinkers who can learn from each other, so substantial sections of our class time will be given to discussion. Learning to articulate your perspective on, response to, and questions about the day’s reading will a) enrich the class members’ understanding of the text, and b) enrich your ability to express yourself clearly in the written assignments. Use active reading strategies for each text we take up, and note your reactions to the readings in the margins of the text or on a separate sheet of paper. These notes will be especially useful for shyer students who are building up confidence, as they will have a record of questions or ideas they can contribute to class discussion.
2. Take good notes on lectures and discussions: You will be responsible for applying concepts that are covered in lectures and in class discussion to your written assignments. A good rule of thumb is that if an idea is important enough for me to write up on the board, it is also important enough for you to write down in your notes.

3. Write your assignments in stages: Even professional writers produce work in several drafts. Writing is a craft that requires attention to detail and refining. At a minimum, students should include brainstorming, outlining, drafting, and revising in their writing process, and revisions should take about the same amount of time as the draft.
4. Submit assignments with correct MLA format and documentation: Avoid handing in assignments that contain good material, but that look like first drafts. Formatting guidelines are finicky, but mastering them is not difficult. Read over the assignment carefully, making sure you understand what you are being asked to write about and how you are being asked to present it. If you have questions about an assignment...
5. Make use of my office hours: Some of the best learning over the semester happens in one-on-one conversations about your work. This is particularly useful after you have an outline (including thesis, topic sentences, and evidence you intend to use to develop your ideas). Consultation is also useful after assignments have been graded and returned: the best way to improve for the next assignment is to make sure you understand how to avoid the difficulties in the current assignment.
6. Make a reliable friend in class: You are responsible for catching up on any missed classes. If you are absent, find a student to borrow notes from. Handouts or Power Points will also be available on D2L to complement your friend's summary of the lecture and class discussion. Feel free to come and see me in office hours if you are caught in extenuating circumstances that prevent you from attending a class or if you need help understanding any material you have missed.

STUDENT TIPS FOR SUCCESS IN ENGLISH 151

- This class is an opportunity to open your mind and get out of your bubble: enjoy it!
- Connect with classmates. The learning experience is way more fun.
- Prepare outlines in advance for the in-class essays.
- Try not to procrastinate, especially for the research essay. Start that thing the DAY you get it.
- This class requires time. Write a first draft and then edit, especially for word choice.
- Access the Writing Centre for support.
- Use Janet's advice and essay comments to your best advantage. She wants you to pass.
- Watch the damn movie and read the book early!
- Allow yourself quiet, uninterrupted space to do assignments.
- Plan your essays. It's WAY easier than winging it, and they're the backbone of your grade.
- Don't skip.
- Just put in the work. If you come to class, listen, follow the coursepack, and hand stuff in you'll do fine.
- Don't be afraid to approach Janet for help if concepts are not making sense or if you have a question about an assignment. I waited way too long to do this, and it would have made a huge difference to my grade if I'd gone for help right away.
- This class can feel more like a discussion with friends than schoolwork if you approach it that way. Try to leave everything else at the door, so you can just enjoy throwing out your ideas and listening to other people's ideas.

STUDENT RESPONSIBILITY

Enrolment at Camosun assumes that the student will become a responsible member of the College community. As such, each student will display a positive work ethic, assist in the preservation of College property, and assume responsibility for their education by researching academic requirements and policies; demonstrating courtesy and respect toward others; and respecting expectations concerning attendance, assignments, deadlines, and appointments.
