COURSE GUIDELINES & EXPECTATIONS

If a student is absent, the student is responsible for any information they miss (i.e., information related to class material, group discussions, assignment format/content and dates). Students should obtain the missed information from their peers or D2L before asking the instructor.

In-class assignments are introduced during lecture times and coincide with the material covered in class that week. These assignments are due at the end of the weekend immediately following the release of the assignment (Sunday 11:59pm on D2L). If a student misses class, it is up to the student to obtain any information and submit assignments they have missed.

Group work is not mandatory in this course. However, students are encouraged to work in groups when allowed for assignments (see assignment details on D2L). Each group member must make their own submission for assignments (unless specified by the instructor), however all members of the group will receive the same grade unless otherwise requested. Group members first and last names must be included on each group work submission.

A 20% deduction per day late on in-class assignments. In-class assignments will not be accepted past Tuesday at midnight. All other late assignments receive a 10% deduction per day past the due date and will not be accepted beyond 5 days late.
