If you have a concern about a grade you have received for an evaluation, please come and see me as soon as possible. Refer to the Grade Review and Appeals policy for more information, see below.

COURSE GUIDELINES & EXPECTATIONS

1. There are two lectures each week that everyone attends.
2. All tests are written in class. If you know you will miss a test or have missed a test, contact me as soon as possible and we will establish a date for a makeup.
3. There is also a one hour seminar each week. Half the class is registered for Seminar A, which is a second hour of class on Tuesdays; the other half of the class is registered for Seminar B, on Thursdays. Please check your registration to find out which seminar is yours. If a student misses or knows they are going to miss the seminar, they may attend the other seminar that week. (You may notice this confers a slight advantage to the Tuesday seminar, but there is nothing that can be done about the nature of time.)
4. There will be short hand written assignments completed in each seminar. Please bring paper and a dark pencil or blue or black pen. At least ten seminar assignments must be submitted to earn a grade for this work. Additionally, the work must show that the student has acquired the basic skills by the end of term.

5. If you get behind on the assignments, please speak to me about arrangements for late submissions. It is important to catch up as soon as possible because it is possible to run out of time.
6. The course content is naturally cumulative. The content of the first chapter of the book is directly relevant to the last chapter, and understanding the last chapter contributes to a deeper understanding of the first. Similarly for the written work, getting good at writing arguments takes practice and practice takes time. So the most important component of mastering this course material is just to show up every week. The course proceeds one (two, three if they're easy) steps at a time the whole time.

STUDENT RESPONSIBILITY

Enrolment at Camosun assumes that the student will become a responsible member of the College community. As such, each student will display a positive work ethic, assist in the preservation of College property, and assume responsibility for their education by researching academic requirements and policies; demonstrating courtesy and respect toward others; and respecting expectations concerning attendance, assignments, deadlines, and appointments.
