Course Description

This course prepares students for the IELTS Academic Exam, which is internationally recognized as a preferred English Language requirement for educational and professional purposes. The course will give the students:

- a very good understanding of the IELTS test format
- practice in the 4 parts (Listening, Reading, Writing and Speaking) of the test
- a full mock (practice) test under exam conditions
- individual feedback

In addition to the class hours, 2 computer lab hours each week will be provided for students to work independently on IELTS preparation exercises assigned by the instructor.

Please bring your textbook and headsets to every class. If you plan to be absent, contact your instructor by voicemail or e-mail before class.
