2. Intended Learning Outcomes

Through reading textbooks and primary source materials, hearing faculty lectures, participating in seminars, writing papers, making presentations, and performing tests, students will

1. gain an understanding of critical themes, events, and issues in the construction of Canada since 1867
2. explore Native-European relations, relations between French and English Canadians, and between them and other ethnic groups
3. examine political challenges and changes
4. explore the development of national consciousness, the legacy of British colonial control and its transformation
5. examine Canadian-American relations, Canada's place in the world, and its participation in wars
6. evaluate economic, cultural and social development

By the end of the course, through exposure to the above materials and ideas, the student should

1. be able to think critically about historical issues and writing by evaluating the arguments put forward by historians, weighing the evidence they present and making judgments about the strength of their arguments.
2. have gained an appreciation of history as a distinct academic discipline, understanding its unique outlook, scope and methods and what distinguishes it from other disciplines.
3. be able to use history to confront the issues of today's world, establishing a context for the present and comprehending the accomplishments, failures, tensions and issues of the present era.

4. have developing skills in research, writing and written and oral communication.

3. Required Materials

R. Douglas Francis, Richard Jones, and Donald B. Smith, Destinies: Canadian History Since Confederation, 4th edition
Canadian History Reading Package for History 112.

4. Course Content and Schedule

Discussions:

Beginning on January 16 and for most of the subsequent weeks of the term, we will have discussion sessions. Please ensure that you attend every session and join in the discussion.

The aim of these sessions is to have a wide-ranging discussion based on readings from the course package. I expect that the discussion will range over a number of topics related to the readings. Pertinent questions are often as useful as thoughtful comments. Don't be intimidated if the meaning of some of the reading material is not clear to you. Write down some questions about what you don't grasp and think about possible answers to them. Bring them to class and share them with everyone.

In addition, it is absolutely essential that you read the textbook, Destinies, in order to put the discussion readings in context. Doing this background reading before class is your responsibility.

Keep in mind that you cannot expect to earn a passing grade for the discussion portion of the mark without participating regularly in the tutorials. You will be judged on the frequency and quality of your contributions. Attendance alone does not constitute participation.

8. Your responsibility

History 112 is a university level course, directly applicable to a university degree. So you must be prepared to perform at a university standard. This requires initiative and effort on your part. Specifically, you must:

- 1) attend class regularly

- 2) keep up with the weekly readings in the textbook and discussion reading book
- 3) think carefully about what is written in these sources and discussed in class
- 4) show evidence that you have grasped the facts and concepts from lectures and discussion by making thoughtful observations in discussion sessions and exams.
