5. Basis of Student Assessment (Weighting)

Fiction essay	20%	Peer edit Final draft	February 14 February 16
Poetry exam	20%	In class	March 7
Drama essay	20%	Peer edit Final draft	March 21 March 23
Final exam	30%		TBA *

The college will schedule the final examination some time during the exam period (April 18-23 and April 25-26). Students should wait until after the college posts the examination schedule to make travel or other plans that might interfere with this or any final examination, as exam dates are not negotiable.

6. Grading System

The following percentage conversion to letter grade will be used:

A+= 95 - 100%	B = 75 - 79%	D = 50 - 59%
A = 90 - 94%	B- = 70 - 74%	F = 0.0 - 49%
A- = 85 - 89%	C+ = 65 - 69%
B+= 80 - 84%	C = 60 - 64%

7. Policies and Penalties

In a literature class, no meaningful discussion or instruction can take place when students have not carefully and completely read and annotated all assigned works before class discussion begins. Students who do not do this place an unfair burden on their classmates. To facilitate a fair and stimulating classroom atmosphere, I may ask students who have not properly prepared for class to leave.

In keeping with my emphasis on active, cooperative learning, I will assign students to writing and discussion groups and rearrange these groups at my discretion. These groups will perform a variety of tasks, including peer edits of major assignments. This group work is a significant component of the learning in this class, and each student has an ongoing responsibility to the other members of her or his group. Therefore, regular attendance and careful preparation are crucial to both individual success and a productive classroom community.

All due dates are firm. Late assignments will lose 5% per day unless accompanied by appropriate documentation of illness or strife. Students who miss the poetry exam or the final exam cannot schedule a rewrite without such documentation.

The best way to be sure that I receive an assignment on the due date is to hand it to me directly in class. If your assignment is late, please bring it to my office. I will consider the assignment handed in when I receive it. Students cannot submit assignments via email.

Note that the out-of-class essays have two deadlines: one for the peer edit and one for the final draft. Both these deadlines are firm, and participation in peer editing is a required component of both these assignments. Therefore, students who do not attend, who arrive late or unprepared for, or who do not fully participate in scheduled peer-edit sessions will lose 10% on the relevant assignment. In addition, peer edits count as class exercises.

The two essays, the poetry exam, and the final exam are mandatory; students who have not submitted one of these assignments cannot pass the course no matter what their grades are on the remaining assignments. Therefore, it is better to hand in an assignment late and lose marks for lateness than to miss handing it in at all.

I will also assign short writing exercises and give occasional quizzes on assigned readings. I will grade these assignments at my discretion, and they will count toward the quiz and exercise grade for the course. Missed quizzes and exercises cannot be made up and will not be excused without appropriate documentation of illness or strife.

You must keep a photocopy or disk copy of everything you hand in to me in case one of your assignments is misplaced, stolen, or damaged. You must also keep all returned work and produce it when asked to do so.

You are responsible for information, verbal or written, given in class. Please keep track of all handouts and assigned readings, and note that neither unexcused absence from class nor inattention to classroom instruction exempts you from meeting deadlines or preparing for class.

Please see the attached handout for information about definitions of and consequences for plagiarism. In this class, the minimum penalty for plagiarism is a grade of zero on the relevant assignment. In addition, I will report plagiarized assignments to the Dean of Arts and Sciences.
