4. Course Format

The primary objective of this course is to engage students in a critical examination of the correction services that exist at the federal, provincial, community levels in Canada. In order to do this, the text, Canadian Corrections, will play a significant role in helping you to master the subject matter of this course. It is important that each chapter be read prior to the scheduled class. This is the assumption under which I will be instructing. Furthermore, there are many classes during which you will be required to bring the text for use in group work. Please take careful note of these days, as completing the group work assignments without the text will be difficult and sometimes impossible.

To maximize your learning, I recommend that you pay careful attention to the objectives listed at the beginning of each chapter and the review questions listed at the end of each chapter. You should be able to answer each of these. Questions about the text readings should be raised in class or during office hours. Class time will be used to review, clarify and apply the concepts discussed in the readings and will consist of group work and class discussion. Your readiness to engage in these opportunities will significantly improve your understanding of the corrections enterprise.

The text, Hard Place to do Time, is to be read on your own time and the Fact Hunt can be completed as you read through the book. It is due by Oct. 15, 2009 and will be marked in class on that day.

5. Basis of Student Assessment

The total marks for this course are distributed as follows:

Research Paper	20%
Fact Hunt (Hard place to do time)	10%
Midterm	25%
Final Examination	35%
Web Challenges/Participation	10%
Total	100%

a) Research Paper 20%

Due Date: Nov. 10, 2009

Each student is required to write an 8-10 page research paper on a correctional topic of his or her choice. Guidelines for this assignment will be distributed separately in class.

b) Fact Hunt – Hard place to do time

10%

Due date: Oct. 15, 2009

Students will be given a handout that requires the identification of certain facts that are related to the reading of our text A hard place to do time. These will be due and marked in class on the date indicated above. The class will be dedicated to a discussion of the facts contained within this book. No late assignments will be accepted without prior agreement of the instructor.

Please put your student number only on the front page – not your name!!!!

c) Examinations

(total value -60%)

Mid-Term (25%)

Oct. 20, 2009

Final Examination (35%)

Final Examination Period

Each exam will consist of a number of multiple choice, true or false, and short answer/essay questions. The mid-term exam will be held during the regularly scheduled class time.

Students should be aware that the completion date for this course includes the final examination period following the termination of regularly scheduled classes in December (December 14-21, 2009 inclusive).

d) Discussion Posts/Web Challenges

10%

Students will be required to contribute to and participate in 5 web-based Discussion posts throughout the semester in the D2L component of this course. These posts are time sensitive and are open for discussion for one week and then closed. The discussion posts can be found under the Discussion Link on the Crim 252 D2L website. There are also 5 Web challenges- a question that you are required to answer by following a link or finding information online. These are also timed in terms of their release and closed one week later. Answers are to be submitted to me under the Drop Box feature on the D2L course site. Participation in these activities can contribute up to 10 marks towards the final grade. Your mark will be dependent on the number of times you participate in these activities and the quality of the responses.

6. Instructional Policies

1. Attendance and Participation

Regular attendance and participation in class are required. It is expected that students will arrive to class on time and that, during class, students will be attentive, non-disruptive, open-minded, constructive, and respectful of others. Students are encouraged to identify current events that directly relate to course content.

Note on IPODS/cell phones and other electronic devices: These are to be turned off during class. Computers are to be used for a purpose related to the class only.

2. Examination Date Changes

No provision will be made to write a test earlier or later than originally scheduled. The mid-term and final exam must be written at the times and on the dates assigned. A student will only be allowed to write a missed test by providing a valid medical certificate attesting to the fact that s/he was ill (or suffered an accident) at the time of the assigned test. In addition, the student who misses a test due to illness must inform the instructor on or before the date of the test of the reason for her/his absence.

Note: Students arriving thirty minutes or more after a course exam has commenced or after the first students has left will not be permitted to write the exam.

3. Late Penalty

Students having a legitimate concern about meeting the due dates should consult with the instructor well in advance.

All assignments must be completed and submitted by the date assigned. All late written assignments will be penalized by 20% of the total mark per day. Students may negotiate the late submission of one assignment in the semester; please come see me if you think you need to make use of this permission.

4. Written Assignment Requirements

Written Assignments for this course must be typewritten, double-spaced and meet the basic requirements for formal academic papers as outlined in the guidelines and the CJ Writing Reference Manual. Written assignments must be submitted to the instructor at the beginning of class. Assignments received at the end of class or not given directly to the instructor as noted, will be penalized as per #4 above.

All assignments submitted for evaluation must be original and produced for the purposes of this course only. The submission of assignments completed for other courses may be construed as academic dishonesty.

5. Course Completion Requirements

Students must complete all evaluative requirements (Research Paper, Fact Hunt, and Exams) to receive a passing grade for the course. Students failing to complete all the requirements will receive an F grade. The paper you complete for this course must be original and may not have been submitted for another course.

6. Plagiarism

If you are concerned about your ability to properly credit and cite references, please come see me ASAP. I am here to help you!!!

What is Plagiarism??? Plagiarism is the failure to fully, and accurately acknowledge the sources of all information used in your assignments, thereby giving the impression the work is your own. Plagiarism includes the use of quotes, or another author's words, without using quotation marks or giving a proper reference citation to the original author. Plagiarism also includes failing to document the source(s) of paraphrased information/ideas.

Plagiarism is considered a serious academic offense. If plagiarism is documented by your instructor, the penalty will be an automatic "0" for that assignment.

7. Cheating/Academic Dishonesty/Student Conduct

The Criminal Justice Department has a clearly articulated policy on cheating and student conduct, as does the College. Cheating may result in suspension and the potential loss of a career in the criminal justice field. Please refer to a current College Calendar and the Criminal Justice Orientation Manual.

8. Course Withdrawal

The last day to withdraw from this and other Fall 2009 term courses without receiving a failing grade is November 10, 2009.

9. Mark/Grade Challenges and Appeals

A student who is seeking to question a mark and/or informally resolve a grade appeal with the course instructor must clearly articulate in writing the specific element of the test or assignment being questioned and provide written reasons/arguments supporting why the mark/grade should be changed. The College appeals process is outlined on pages 32 of the 2009/2010 Camosun College Calendar.

10. Student Responsibility

It is each student's responsibility to familiarize her/himself with course/program and college policies. Students experiencing difficulties throughout the semester are encouraged to talk to the course instructor at the earliest opportunity.
