5. Basis of Student Assessment (Weighting)

Grades are based on two exams (65%) and three assignments (35%). You will get a study guide for both exams and a handout with detailed information about each assignment.

Midterm Exam (30%):

The midterm will be based on all materials covered to that date, including lectures, films, and readings. It will consist of a mix of multiple-choice, short-answer, and short essay questions.

Final Exam (35%):

The final exam will be based on all material covered after the midterm, including lectures, films, and readings. The final exam will also include a few general concepts discussed throughout the term. The format will be similar to that of the midterm.

Assignment 1: Commentary on Nisa (10%)

The first assignment is an in-class essay which consists of a discussion of women's roles in traditional !Kung society, based on Shostak's Nisa: The Life and Words of a !Kung Woman. You will have the whole class to write it. Details will follow in assignment handout.

Assignment 2: Gender & Childrearing (10%)

The basis for this assignment is Friedl's book chapter on reserve, which deals with childrearing in rural Iran. In about four pages (1000 words) you are asked to compare Friedl's description to specific experiences and observations from your own culture. Details will follow in handout.

Assignment 3: Applied Anthropology (15%)

Anthropologists often work as consultants for development projects. In about five pages (1250 words) you are asked to critically evaluate potential tourism developments in Deh Koh, the Iranian village described by Friedl in Women of Deh Koh. Details will follow in handout.

IMPORTANT: Both exams must be written to successfully complete this course and both must be written at the scheduled times. In the case of an emergency or grave illness, you have to inform the instructor before the start of the exam and present a medical certificate. There are no exceptions without such a document.

Assignments are due in class on the days listed in the course schedule. For late assignments 5% of the grade will be deducted per school day, and assignments will not be accepted more than three school days after the deadline. Also note that there is no option to redo assignments in this class, but I encourage you to see me during office hours and get feedback as you are preparing your assignments.

Class Participation: Group and class discussions are an integral part of this course. Up to 2% of bonus marks will be given to students who contribute to discussions regularly and with good comments.
