8. Important Notes

- Participation mark will be based on attendance, punctuality, homework, and contributions to in-class discussions. Document absences when possible, so they do not affect your participation grade.
- Because this course emphasizes student participation and discussion, it is essential that students complete all the readings ahead of class and turn off any electronic devices for the duration of class.
- Students who are absent for an in-class essay or quiz will receive zero.
- Late papers will lose 10% per day, and they will receive a grade only (no comments).
- Write your own papers! Plagiarism is an academic offence that the college takes very seriously. Please see the “red handout” for a detailed discussion of this issue. Papers with any form of plagiarism will receive zero.
- The College provides many services, including a Writing Centre and a Language Help Centre. See Student Services, the College Calendar, or www.camosun.ca for details.
- Students are responsible for knowing the Student Conduct Policy. Copies of this document are available at Student Services, the School Administration Office, or www.camosun.ca

9. Tips for Success in English 163

1. Be punctual and prepared for class: both your physical and your intellectual presence are essential. We are cultivating a community of readers and thinkers who can learn from each other, so substantial sections of our class time will be given to discussion. Learning to articulate your perspective on, response to, and questions about the day’s reading will a) enrich the class members’ understanding of the text, and b) enrich your ability to express yourself clearly in the written assignments. Use active reading strategies for each text we take up, and note your reactions to the readings in the margins of the text or on a separate sheet of paper. These notes will be especially useful for shy students who are building up confidence, as they will have a record of questions or ideas they can contribute to class discussion.
2. Take good notes on lectures and discussions: For the final exam, you will be responsible for concepts that are covered in lectures and in class discussion. You will also be responsible for the names of the authors and titles we cover this semester, so make a point of learning them as we go.
3. Write your assignments in stages: Even professional writers produce work in several drafts. Writing is a craft that requires attention to detail and refining. At a minimum, students should include brainstorming, outlining, drafting, and revising in their writing process, and revisions should take about the same amount of time as the draft.

4. Submit assignments with correct MLA format and documentation: Avoid handing in assignments that contain good material, but that look like first drafts. Formatting guidelines are finicky, but mastering them is not difficult. Correct format adds credibility to your work by establishing your professionalism, and it also helps readers make sense of your writing. Read over the assignment carefully, making sure you understand what you are being asked to write about and how you are being asked to present it. If you have questions about an assignment...
5. Make use of my office hours: Some of the best learning over the semester happens in one-on-one conversations about your work. This is particularly useful after you have an outline (including thesis, topic sentences, and quotations from the text you intend to use to develop your ideas). Consultation is also useful after assignments have been graded and returned: the best way to improve for the next assignment is to make sure you understand how to avoid the difficulties in the current assignment.
6. Make a reliable friend in class: You are responsible for catching up on any missed classes. If you are absent, find a student to borrow notes from. Handouts or Power Points will also be available on D2L to complement your colleague's summary of the lecture and class discussion. By all means come and see me in office hours if you are caught in extenuating circumstances that prevent you from attending a class or if you need help understanding any material you have missed.
