2. Intended Learning Outcomes

(No changes are to be made to these Intended Learning Outcomes as approved by the Education Council of Camosun College.)

Upon completion of this course the student will be able to:

1. Describe the four fields of anthropology in relation to what they offer to our understanding of contemporary human issues.
2. Outline the anthropological perspective, including holism, cultural relativism, comparativism and evolution.
3. Discuss the trends in human evolution in order to understand the modern human species.
4. Explain the importance of archaeological investigation to modern society.
5. Describe the basic structure of language as it relates to society and culture.
6. Define culture, including its characteristics and structures, in order to understand its centrality to anthropology.
7. Examine and analyze specific examples such as family structure, religion, social organization, and culture change in relation to anthropologic discourse.
8. Address ethnocentrism as a barrier to understanding other cultures.

3. Required Materials

Text:

2013 Haviland et. al. The Essence of Anthropology, third edition. Wadsworth Cengage Learning; Belmont.

Additional Resources:

2012 Rymer, Russ Vanishing Voices. National Geographic July 2012. (Linked off website, or available via this link: <http://ngm.nationalgeographic.com/2012/07/vanishing-languages/rymer-text>).

4. Basis of Student Assessment

(a) Assignments (30%)

Classroom Think Tank (10%)

On two occasions throughout the semester students will come to class ready to discuss some key issue with the help of anthropology. Each student will have signed up to read or watch one of two resources, and will contribute their learning to a small group. Together, the group will evaluate a question and present content to address it. Students will then write a one page mini-essay answer to this question and hand it in the following week. Each think tank activity is worth 5%. A description of this assignment, along with the key issues and dates for these think tank sessions, is posted on my website.

100 Mile Diet Challenge (10%):

This assignment is a tangible way for students to consider their own participation in a globalized world, specifically in terms of food. We rarely think about where our food comes from, apart from a grocery store, but our complex form of subsistence is part of many larger issues like global economics, food security, and even climate change. Students will prepare and eat one meal that consists of food items that originate from within a 100 mile radius of their home and write a summary and commentary of the meal and overall experience with respect to concepts of globalization, economics, subsistence, and food security. The assignment is due in class March 5, and because it will be part of a general class discussion during this class, no late assignments will be accepted.

How is Culture Embedded in Language? (10%):

Students will read Russ Rymer's article Vanishing Voices and choose one case study to summarize as part of a short essay that considers the cultural importance of languages beyond mere communication. Material from the textbook, lecture, and personal experiences can also be used to create a clear, concise, and compelling magazine style essay (ie. for a popular audience with no prior knowledge of linguistic anthropology). Be sure to include in text citations and a full citation of Rymer's article, and any other resources that you use to in your assignment (such as the textbook!). This essay should be approximately 5 pages long double spaced, and is due in class March 26.

(b) Exams (70%): There are 3 exams; the first exam is worth 25%, the second exam is worth 20% and the third exam is worth 25% (reflecting the amount of content evaluated on each exam). The final exam is not cumulative and will be written during the College's exam period (please check Camlink for this information). It is your responsibility to be present for all exams.

All exams must be attempted and an overall passing grade achieved in order to pass this course. Exams must be written at the scheduled times unless prior notice has been given to the instructor and approval received to write at a different time. If a student misses an exam due to illness, s/he must present a medical note to write a makeup exam. There will be no exceptions (this is college policy). Additional exams/assignments are not available to students in order to upgrade poor marks.

Please make every effort to hand in assignments on time. 5% of the total mark will be deducted for every day an assignment is late; while this may not seem like many marks, remember that 5% is the difference of a letter grade, and this adds up quickly. This is an unfortunate way to lose marks, and can be avoided by avoiding procrastination and staying organized in terms of time management.

A final note: The powerpoints that I use are visual aids in the classroom. I do not post them online, and will not share them with students who do not attend class (unless there is some extreme circumstance!). If you miss class, it is your responsibility to catch up, which includes getting notes from a peer.

5. Grading System

Standard Grading System (GPA)

Temporary Grades

Temporary grades are assigned for specific circumstances and will convert to a final grade according to the grading scheme being used in the course. See Grading Policy E-1.5 at camosun.ca for information on conversion to final grades, and for additional information on student record and transcript notations.

(For these courses a final grade will be assigned to either the 3rd course attempt or at the point of course completion.)
CW	Compulsory Withdrawal: A temporary grade assigned by a Dean when an instructor, after documenting the prescriptive strategies applied and consulting with peers, deems that a student is unsafe to self or others and must be removed from the lab, practicum, worksite, or field placement.
