2. Intended Learning Outcomes

(No changes are to be made to these Intended Learning Outcomes as approved by the Education Council of Camosun College.)

Upon completion of this course the student will be able to:

1. Articulate the basic principles, procedures and substantive areas of criminal law.
2. Identify the various sources of criminal law and critique the criminal justice system, its offences and defences.
3. Explore by the use of papers and other activities areas of criminal law that are of interest.
4. Articulate an appreciation of criminal law in practice by participating in a mock trial that as closely as possible replicates a true criminal trial.

3. Required Materials

(a) Criminal Law in Canada, Cases Questions and the Code

Simon N. Verdun Jones, Harcourt Brace

This fine book is available at your friendly bookstore. On the spot financing is available. Earlier editions are usable, but check with me. The text is carefully chosen to offer the best supplementary readings to the lectures.

(b) Crim 270 Annotated Casebook

This casebook is required. It is available in the bookstore. It will be available by the third class. I update and annotate the casebook each summer. The cases are mandatory reading for the course. You need to read these cases before the class in which we talk about the case. Simple as that.

4. Course Content and Schedule

(This section can include: class hours, lab hours, out of class requirements and/or dates for quizzes, exams, lectures, labs, seminars, practicums, etc.)

Each course takes countless hours of development by our Research and Development team at the Six Mile Pub. Consultation with thousands of former students allows me to decide just how students in each term should be graded.

Based on this, I then test-run assignments on laboratory mice to see how the assignments work and are fair. This is not easy. Finding mice that work the way students do, is tougher than it looks.

Each assignment must be completed. If you do not complete an assignment you do not pass the course. We have a number of laboratory mice that missed one assignment, and we had to execute them.

Exams – There will be two. They will be true/false, multiple choice, and short answer. If you miss an exam, you fail... nice and simple.

Mid Term Exam – Thursday Oct 21 25%

Final Exam – During the final exam period 35%

The college sets this and I have no control over the date. Don't be away!

Case Battle 2016 – 40%

One of the test mice suggested this during a debrief. I think it's a good idea. But she was drunk. Anyway, here's how it works....

The class is divided into teams of three. If we have an extra student we'll kick them out of class. Each team is assigned an opposing team. The first team must find a case that relates to issues we study in this class (see the list below for examples). The case must be from a trial court in Canada – that means not a court of appeal. The first team does a one-page synopsis of the case and presents the case, plus the synopsis, to their opposing team. This first part of the assignment is due by February 9th. The opposing team must then write an appeal decision of the case that disagrees with the trial decision. This part of the assignment is three pages in length. This is presented to the first team by March 8th. A copy of the 3-page appeal is handed in to me. Within one week of that, by March 15th, the first team must do a one-page rebuttal of the appeal. And then the battle begins. During the weeks of March 22 to April 12 each set of two teams will go head to head in front of the class arguing their case. The class will vote on the team with the best argument. The ground rules, order of argument, and the date of your group's battle will be handed out.

List of possible case issues: actus reus, causation, mens rea, transferred intent, indirect intent, automatism, self defence, mistake of fact, necessity, intoxication, insanity, duress...

Picking the case is very important. This MUST be approved by me before it is put to the other team. A bad case will make everyone's job very hard. I must approve your team's case by February 2nd.

The first group is marked for the case they pick, the synopsis, the rebuttal, and the battle round. The second group is marked for the 3-page appeal and the battle round. Students are marked as a group for all written parts and individually for the battle round. The winning team in the battle round is given a bonus of up to 5%.

Mock Trial – One of the highlights of the term (other than the scintillating lectures) is the mock trial. This takes place in the courthouse on Burdett. So yeah, a trial in a real courtroom. Our mock trial will as accurately as possible resemble a real murder trial. Students will be the judge, lawyers, witnesses, jurors, and the accused. This becomes a great class project and ends up with some wonderful moments of students fighting. Warms my heart. More details on this to follow. We will discuss a date in class but it is usually near the very end of term.
