5. Basis of Student Assessment (Weighting)

- (a) Exams (55%): There are two exams; The first is worth 30% and the second is worth 25% of your final grade. The exams will consist of multiple-choice and short-answer questions and will test your knowledge of assigned readings and lecture material. The exams are not cumulative. Please see course schedule above for tentative exam dates. More information will be provided in class prior to the first exam.
- (b) Reading discussions (30%) Three times during the course (see above course schedule), you must submit a discussion of one of the primary-source readings provided online. You must submit a 500-700 word discussion of a reading of your choice. Each discussion must be submitted online prior to class that day. More information on this assignment will be provided in class. Each discussion is worth 10% of your final grade (for a total of 30%).
- (c) In-class discussions (10%): During every class, there will be a group discussion assignment for you to complete. These discussion assignments will sometimes address the required readings (including the primary-source readings), so it's a good idea to come prepared. You will complete each assignment in groups of 3-4 students. The assignment will be graded either satisfactory or unsatisfactory, and all group members will receive the same grade. Each assignment is worth a little under 1% of your final grade.
- (d) Online Quizzes (5%): For every section, there is an online quiz to be completed prior to its due date (as listed on the course website). Each quiz is worth a little over 0.5% of your final grade.

6. Grading System

Missed Assignment Policy

If you miss an exam or do not hand in an assignment and you have a reasonable excuse (illness, accident, family affliction, religious obligations, etc.), please contact me as soon as possible to schedule a make-up exam or to arrange a new due date for the missed assignment. If you do not have a reasonable excuse, any missed exam will receive a mark of zero and any assignment will be subject to a late penalty.

If you miss handing in a group discussion assignment and you have a reasonable excuse, please email me. You will not be required to make up the discussion assignment; the missed assignment will simply be removed from the calculation of your grade (making all your other group discussion assignments worth slightly more). If you do not have a reasonable excuse, any missed group discussion assignment will receive a grade of zero.

You must complete all required work for this course (exams and reading discussions) to receive a passing grade.
