4.2 Course Content

Learning language is over all to interact with one another, to learn cultures. Active participation and active learning are very important to students' own learning and intercultural knowledge. Learning French offers opportunities, professional as personal ones. As the second language in Canada, French would give you access to federal and provincial employment or any other areas where bilingualism is required in or outside the country, as international organizations (e.g. UNO).

French represents 275 million of francophones on five continents and used as a daily life language, mostly in Africa, or as a second or foreigner language. It is the second language learned each year by over 125 million of people after English. French is an international language that is also largely used on Internet.

In French 106, students will discover different aspects of la francophonie. They will practice the four proficiencies: writing, reading, speaking, and listening by developing strategies for writing, editing/reviewing and reading texts, and oral communication. It is important that students question themselves on strategies they use in order to reach their objectives with more effectiveness.

5. Basis of Student Assessment (Weighting)

Activities and Assignments (10%+20%)

Many scheduled activities will be performed in class, both in pairs and in small groups. While some of these activities will be practice work, other activities and out of class assignments will be subject to evaluation. Evaluation of student participation (i.e. preparedness and attendance) will also take place. Thus, it is very important to attend class regularly.

The three evaluated activities have been already scheduled (see the calendar above or on the home page of D2L) and they will be announced on the D2L weekly plan the week before the due date. Students will receive feedback and marks on these activities. Students who do not prepare these activities out of class and / or not attend the class during these activities will not receive marks. In addition, students will be asked to complete out of class two assignments. Students will have to write their own texts with language analysis (grammar, syntax, vocabulary). These assignments must be completed by the due date at the beginning of each class. Late assignments, including after class, will lose 5% per day unless accompanied by medical documentation of illness or other legitimate reason (see below). Assignments more than five days late (including weekends) will no longer be accepted. On weekends, students can send a copy (e.g.: a picture) by email but only paper submissions will be graded

Discussion Forum (10%)

Students will read, listen and watch different documents on Internet and will respond by writing a short comment or by orally respond on D2L discussion forum (3). This activity will be half evaluated on participation and half on contents and language (grammar, vocabulary, pronunciation, rythm...)

PodCast* or mini-conference (25%)

*Podcast is “balado” in French.

Podcast / Balado

Students will prepare alone or in a group of two a “balado” (podcast) that will be presented at the French community radio of Victoria: CILSFM, 107.9. The participation to the podcasting* requires a minimum of students, otherwise this oral evaluation will be cancelled.

*Podcasting is “baladodiffusion” in French.

Mini-conférence

Students will prepare in group of three a mini-conference on one aspect of la francophonie (art, culture, places, etc.). The presentation must be entirely created by the student(s) without the help of software or other persons.

Objectives:

The objective of these two different activities is to encourage students' learning while expressing ideas, thoughts and preferences, and prepare them to speak in public (in class or on radio). Audience (students and teacher only) will interact with the podcasters and conference speakers (students) by asking them questions. Students will be asked to show their progress to the instructor during the term in order to receive marks and feedback on how to improve their language skills (grammar, syntax, and vocabulary) and their oral expression (pronunciation, rhythm, and intonation). It is thus important to start the preparation as early as possible in order to receive the maximum of feedback.

The assignments must be completed without any translators or proofreading (speaking) by anyone else. Work that suggests the use of external help will not be accepted. USING TRANSLATOR PROGRAMS OR HAVING ANOTHER PERSON DO YOUR HOMEWORK OR CREATE YOUR ORAL PRESENTATION CONSTITUTES CHEATING.

Tests (15%+20%)

Students will have to complete two tests that include listening, writing, reading, and grammar. Each test will contain subjects from the beginning of the semester to one week prior to the test. The final test will be completed during the examination period.

Illness, accident and family affliction are the only legitimate reasons to miss an evaluated activity in class or an exam (tests and dialogues). The teacher reserves the right to require a doctor's note if a student is absent due to illness. Students who are absent the day a test is given are expected to contact the teacher prior to the exam.

Remember: It is your responsibility to find out from colleagues what class work, announcements or assignments you have missed while absent, as well as to check the D2L for this course periodically.

Note: Cheating and plagiarism

The assessments, orals, and tests must be completed without any translators or proofreading (speaking) by anyone else. Work that suggests the use of external help will not be accepted. Using translator programs or having another person do your assignments, your tests, or create your oral dialogues constitutes cheating.

Also, copying an entire assignments (including dialogues) or representing specific passages as if they are students own words is plagiarism.

Remember: It is your responsibility to find out from colleagues what class work, announcements or assignments you have missed while absent, as well as to check the D2L for this course periodically.
