5. Basis of Student Assessment (Weighting)

1. Reading Quizzes: 10% (1.1% per quiz)

With each new chapter students will be asked to take an online multiple choice quiz that accompanies the textbook. The quizzes will cover the reading for a chapter and must be completed prior to the start of that week's class. The online submission window will close one hour prior to the start of that chapter. For all but chapters three and four (which close on Thursdays) reading quizzes close on Tuesdays at 7:30 AM.

2. Short Essays: 60% (15% per assignment)

Students will write a four in class short essays of approximately 250 words each throughout the semester. For each short essay, and the section it covers, students will have access to a list of four questions. From those four questions two will appear for in the class essay. The four questions will be posted at the start of each section. On the day of the in class short essay, students will be provided with two of the four questions. They will answer one of the two.

Attendance is required at each in class short essay day. Attendance will be taken.

Students will write their in class short essay without any outside assistance, notes, textbook, the use of the internet, or the like. For more information, see the Assignment section of the D2L content page.

3. Engagement Grade - 5%

All students will be asked to make a meaningful contribution to class activities and demonstrate engagement with topic. There are numerous ways for students to express their engagement. See the D2L site for a full account of participation grading.

4. Take Home Final – 25%

A final exam will consist of a take home essays due at 11:59 PM on Friday April 17. Students will have 84 hours to compose an essay of approximately 500 words in length. Students will answer one short essay question which draws from themes covered since the beginning of the semester. The essay will be submitted through the course's D2L Assignment drop box. For more information, see the D2L content page.
