4. Course Schedule (Jan. 12 to April 13)

This course is offered online through D2L, which means that, for the most part, you will learn asynchronously (on your own time) through course materials loaded under “Contents” weekly. I will be readily available for consultation, and to support your learning.

Regular L I V E, synchronous sessions will be scheduled almost every week to clarify assignments, discuss selected texts, and answer your questions. Attendance at these live, recorded sessions is optional. However, they are designed to keep you connected, improve your mark, and to save you time—always join these sessions when you can! The schedule for these L I V E sessions can be found on the “Class Schedule.”

To support your learning, here is the rhythm of postings:

1. Each week, I will upload videos, PowerPoints/lectures, activities and other links/materials that guide you through the different literary genres, terms, texts, and themes that we are studying. Always start with "Instructions for the Week". Use the course pack for terminology.
2. "Rocking Chair Chats," hosted by myself and other guests, will offer discussions some of the works to provide more context and insight into the readings.
3. Occasionally, I will post short videos that delve into writing practices that you will need for your assignments. Doing the readings, reviewing the materials, and applying feedback on your written assignments will deeply enrich your learning.
4. Almost every week, there will be a one-hour LIVE session providing more instruction.

TOTAL		100%

ADDITIONAL COMMENTS:

This course is a safe, inclusive, and respectful space. Interpreting literature is a personal experience. If you find that any works or discussion comments trigger you, please let me know so that you can be well supported.

This course involves intensive reading, deep thinking, and self-reflection. While you read, record your own observations and insights. Literature is the training ground for human subjectivity that invites personal transformation and growth. Take the time to work through the readings, discovering what is relevant to you and your own life.

Participation opens us to consider different views that enrich our self-understanding. Becoming comfortable at sharing your own views and learning from others benefits your own learning and communication skills. Become curious and always ask questions to develop your critical thinking skills.

Complete all assignments by the deadlines. Deadlines are put in place to help you move through the class smoothly and at a regular pace. However, it is true that "life happens." Therefore, one late assignment will be permitted, and must be submitted before the last class. Late assignments will not receive commentary. If you have trouble submitting any other assignments on time, please contact me.

Submission of assignments. Please submit assignments on D2L as MicroSoft Word or PDF documents by midnight, 12:00am (PST / B.C. time) on the due dates.

Plagiarism is the submission of work that is not your own, and/or that does not appropriately document original sources. Having someone else write all or part of your assignment is also plagiarism. Editors and tutors should only offer advice or suggestions on how to improve your writing; they should not rewrite or correct your work. Be aware that the College considers plagiarism a serious offense. Any attempt to plagiarize will be met with serious consequences, including a zero on the assignment, and possibly a failing grade in the course. If you are feeling desperate or anxious, and are tempted to plagiarize, please contact me for help. Consult the Camosun Arts & Science Academic Honesty Guidelines before beginning this course: <http://camosun.ca/learn/school/arts-science/images/Arts%20and%20Science%20Academic%20Honesty%20Guidelines.pdf>

Emergency situations. Please contact me if you are experiencing illness or strife. Note that the final exam can be rescheduled only with submission of valid medical or emergency documentation.

2. Competency Based Grading System (Non GPA)

This grading system is based on satisfactory acquisition of defined skills or successful completion of the course learning outcomes

Grade	Description
COM	The student has met the goals, criteria, or competencies established for this course, practicum or field placement.
DST	The student has met and exceeded, above and beyond expectation, the goals, criteria, or competencies established for this course, practicum or field placement.
NC	The student has not met the goals, criteria or competencies established for this course, practicum or field placement.

B. Temporary Grades

Temporary grades are assigned for specific circumstances and will convert to a final grade according to the grading scheme being used in the course. See Grading Policy at <http://camosun.ca/about/policies/index.html> for information on conversion to final grades, and for additional information on student record and transcript notations.

Temporary Grade	Description
I	Incomplete: A temporary grade assigned when the requirements of a course have not yet been completed due to hardship or extenuating circumstances, such as illness or death in the family.
IP	In progress: A temporary grade assigned for courses that are designed to have an anticipated enrollment that extends beyond one term. No more than two IP grades will be assigned for the same course.
CW	Compulsory Withdrawal: A temporary grade assigned by a Dean when an instructor, after documenting the prescriptive strategies applied and consulting with peers, deems that a student is unsafe to self or others and must be removed from the lab, practicum, worksite, or field placement.
