COURSE GUIDELINES & EXPECTATIONS

Asynchronous delivery of course material (i.e. there are no set lecture or seminar times), but please note the deadlines for assignments in the course schedule below – all assignments for this course will be due on Wednesdays at midnight (11:59 pm).

Please read the relevant chapters in the textbook before listening to the Powerpoint lectures with audio on D2L – they are set for each week to keep you on track with course material and assignments.

☞ Course Requirements:

Attendance Note:

The first information that you will need to submit is an attendance note, whether you are in the class or on the waitlist. Since there is a waitlist for this course, please e-mail a note to me at LiebC@camosun.bc.ca to confirm your attendance by 5 pm on Monday Jan. 10 (i.e. the first day of classes). This is important as this attendance note will hold your space in the course. To ensure that waitlisted students will have a chance to take the course. If there is a waitlist, I will begin the deregistration process for students who have not submitted the attendance note by Tuesday Jan. 12.

In your attendance note, please introduce yourself in about a paragraph:

- Your name / student number
- Are you located in Canada or elsewhere?
- Have you taken any other college / university History courses?
- Have you taken history in high school, or is the subject completely new to you? This is an introductory course so no prior knowledge is necessary – but feedback on this will help me get a better sense of the class composition.
- What is your interest in taking this History course? Is there a specific topic, theme, or event that you would like to learn more about?

The level of detail you provide in this attendance note is voluntary, and whether you choose to answer all the questions is up to you, but I will need the note itself to confirm your attendance.

As preparations for each week, you are expected to read the relevant chapter(s) in the textbook, John Douglas Belshaw, Canadian History: Pre-Confederation (<https://opentextbc.ca/preconfederation/>). During the term, you will be required to submit two article analyses on assigned journal article readings. In addition, there will be a midterm exam in February and the final exam due at the beginning of exam period in April (see details below).

1) Article Analyses (2x20%):

You will be writing two article analyses (~1000 words each). You will write an analysis on one of the two assigned articles before the midterm and one of the two after the midterm exam. The deadline for each article analysis is the week when that article was assigned (see course schedule above and D2L for details). In each article analysis, you will be asked to:

- Identify the author's main argument - what exactly is the thesis statement?
- Briefly summarize the article with specific relevant details (i.e. what does it tell you about the topic)
- In the next section, please identify what types of sources the author used and discuss how convincingly the article was supported with specific evidence.
- Each article topic will have a short introduction and guiding questions on D2L (see the weekly entries for more details). Please answer these questions in your response, supported by specific evidence from the reading.
- All information taken from the articles need to be properly footnoted with the exact page number for the source of the details – see History Department Style Guide on D2L.

Guiding questions (focus of article analysis) will be posted on D2L in the weekly schedule, so please make sure to look for those. This will help you to focus your thoughts for the reading of academic journal articles and will train you to identify the main arguments and factual evidence presented in the texts. For an excellent grade, the article analysis should be clear and well-written, show a strong understanding of the content of the reading, include your own thoughts and analysis, support your response with specific evidence from the reading, and cite that evidence with footnotes. As academic papers, these assignments will require proper Chicago Style (Turabian) footnoting – please see the History Department Style Guide on D2L for more details.

Please be aware that students are expected to read all of the four assigned readings, even though you are only required to respond to two of them with these article analyses. All the assigned readings are fair game for the exams.

3) Midterm Exam (30% - 2x15% for the two essays):

In lieu of the regular midterm exam we will have two 500-word essay responses that will include questions on material from lectures and the textbook covered to that point in the course and potentially also the discussion readings. The aim will be to combine your textbook and discussion article readings and the material from the audio-lectures with Powerpoint (on D2L) to demonstrate contextual understanding of developments relevant to the course. The questions for the two papers will be posted on D2L a week before the due date and will be submitted online through the D2L submission box on Wednesday March 2, 2022 at Midnight – please combine the two responses into a single Microsoft Word or PDF document (other formats do not open on D2L).

4) Final Exam Replacement Papers (30% - 2x15% for the two essays):

Similar to the Midterm exam, in the final exam, you will be asked to identify the contexts of the major themes covered in the lectures and discussion groups, and to discuss these with reference to significant names, dates and locations in these take-home exams. As with the Midterm, context and questions will be posted on D2L a week prior to the due date.

The Final Exam papers are due in the D2L submission box on Wednesday April 20, 2022 at Midnight – please combine the two responses into a single Microsoft Word or PDF document.

Due dates: Assignments must be submitted to the online submission box on D2L at the time and date listed above.

Marks will be deducted at the rate of 5% per day for late assignments. If your assignment is late because of illness or a credible family emergency, please make sure to inform the instructor by e-mail as soon as possible – ideally before the deadline. The Midterm and Final Exam submission boxes on D2L will close at midnight (11:59 pm) on the due dates, so make sure to upload it before those times. No assignments will be accepted after the final exam date on April 20, 2022 without prior permission from the instructor.

Note: If you find you are unable to complete an assignment, please e-mail me prior to the due dates, or as close to them as possible. It is the student's responsibility to inform me of any difficulties completing course components.

A Note on Plagiarism: Plagiarism will result in a failing grade on the assignment and may result in a failing grade for the course and/or further disciplinary action by the College. Please see the Student Conduct Policy.

What is plagiarism?

1. The use of another person's words (sentences/phrases/paragraphs) without including quotation marks and footnotes. This applies to any written work published in book, text, or magazine form, or anything located on the Internet. In other words, it is plagiarism if someone copies and pastes work from the Internet and presents that work as his/her own.
2. Paraphrasing any author's words or ideas without using a footnote to cite the source.
3. Copying another student's work, either on assignments or exams.

More information can be found in the Arts and Science Academic Honesty Guidelines, posted in the Course Overview on D2L.
