COURSE GUIDELINES & EXPECTATIONS

1) Discussion Groups (20%):

Since discussion groups only work when students are well-acquainted with the assigned readings, one requirement of the seminars will be to provide a short (minimum one page) commentary containing the following points:

- Briefly summarize the articles and / or primary documents (i.e. what are they telling you about the topic)
- Identify the main arguments and themes of the readings
- Write a short paragraph in which you outline the most important question(s) that the readings raised for you.

This will help you to focus your thoughts for the discussions and will train you to identify the main arguments of the texts you read. These short commentaries will not be graded individually but will assist in determining the quality of your participation (of course, only in addition to your oral participation during the discussions – see below).

The discussion groups count for 20% of the final grade in the course. You will receive 30% of the discussion grade by being physically present, 30% will be based on the discussion paper (full marks for all papers that fully cover the above points), and 40% will be based on the quality and frequency of your oral participation (with an emphasis on contributions that demonstrate critical engagement with the material).

To ensure discussions are effective, students must read and think about the assigned material in advance of coming to class and bring the short paper – see instructions above. In class, students will not only discuss the content of the material but more importantly will discuss their interpretations of the assigned material, the authors' thesis and main points, and, where applicable, the sources and evidence the authors used to make their arguments.

2) Midterm Exam (25%):

In lieu of the regular midterm exam we will have two 500-600-word essay responses that will include questions on material from lectures and the textbook covered to that point in the course and potentially also the discussion readings. The aim will be to combine your textbook, article readings and the material from the Powerpoint lectures to demonstrate contextual understanding of developments relevant to the course. The questions for the two papers will be posted on D2L five days before the due date (Wed. Feb. 8 at 10:00 am) and will be submitted online through the D2L submission box at 10:00 am on Monday February 13, 2023 – please combine the two responses into a single Microsoft Word or PDF document.

3) Research Paper (30%)

This essay requires a minimum of four academic secondary and one primary source.

Choose a written primary source as the basis for your essay topic. Many of the classical works are available online in full text or at various libraries. In addition, the paper requires a minimum of four academic and recent secondary sources (books or articles written by historians and published by university presses or academic journals) accessible through the Camosun Library (or also try the UVic library if you cannot find enough material at Camosun). Search for secondary sources that are footnoted and at least 15 pages in length (shorter works will not provide the necessary details you need to support your own argument in the paper). Avoid the use of online secondary sources since most of them are not peer reviewed (i.e. not academic) and are likely too short. Please draw on information from the minimum of four secondary sources you found and make sure to use the History Department Style Guide, available on D2L under “Course Resources.”

There is additional information on D2L and in a seminar on “How to write a Research Paper” – see schedule above. This essay will be about 1,500-2,000 words in length and will be marked based on the effectiveness of the research and argument, writing style and grammar, as well as the use of proper academic footnoting (Chicago Style – see style guide).

Qualities of a Good Essay:

- Critical analysis. Original and independent thought. What do you think about the material you have found? Why did you make the argument that you did? Which sources are more convincing and why? How are your sources biased? A well-balanced essay will include information that may disagree with your thesis as long as you explain why you are more convinced by one source than by another.
- Clear argument and organization. State your thesis in the introduction and develop it in a well-organized paper. The thesis statement is an answer to the research question. Based on the research you have done, take a point of view and defend it. The information you present should be logically organized and support your thesis statement. Beginning each paragraph with a topic sentence that is connected to the argument helps to guide the reader.
- Strong evidence. Is the paper based on adequate evidence from relevant primary and secondary sources? Is the evidence sufficient to convincingly support the thesis? Is the evidence critically examined? How well does your paper integrate and engage with the primary and secondary sources?
- Footnotes and bibliography. All evidence that is not common knowledge should be referenced using correct footnote style. Use footnotes when you are quoting another person and even when you are paraphrasing another person’s ideas or findings in your own words. The History Department Style Guide explains what format you should use for footnotes and bibliography.
- Good writing style. The essay should be well written, have no spelling errors, and be grammatically correct. It should also be interesting to read. Avoid long block quotes (and frequently quoting secondary sources) – it is better to summarize and put information in your own words. Writing several drafts and reading your work aloud both help improve the quality of your writing.

The Research Paper is due on D2L on Wednesday March 15, 2023 at Midnight (11:59 pm).

4) Final Exam (25%):

Similar to the Midterm exam, in the final exam, you will be asked to identify the contexts of the major themes covered in the lectures and discussion groups, and to discuss these with reference to significant names, dates and locations in these take-home exams. Final Exam questions will be posted on D2L a week prior to the due date (Wed. April 12 at 10:00 am).

The Final Exam papers are due in the D2L submission box at midnight (11:59 pm) on Wednesday April 19, 2023 – please combine the two responses into a single Word or PDF document.

Due dates: Assignments must be submitted to the online submission box on D2L at the time and date listed above.

Marks will be deducted at the rate of 5% per day for late assignments. If your assignment is late because of illness or family affliction, please make sure to inform the instructor by e-mail as soon as possible – ideally before the deadline. No assignments will be accepted after the final class day on April 12, 2023 without prior permission from the instructor.

Note: If you find you are unable to complete an assignment, please e-mail me prior to the due dates, or as close to them as possible. It is the student’s responsibility to inform me of any difficulties completing course components.

A Note on Plagiarism: Plagiarism will result in a failing grade on the assignment and may result in a failing grade for the course and/or further disciplinary action by the College. Please see the Student Conduct Policy.

What is plagiarism?

1. The use of another person’s words (sentences/phrases/paragraphs) without including quotation marks and footnotes. This applies to any written work published in book, text, or magazine form, or anything located on the Internet. In other words, it is plagiarism if someone copies and pastes work from the Internet and presents that work as his/her own.
2. Paraphrasing any author’s words or ideas without using a footnote to cite the source.
3. Copying another student’s work, either on assignments or exams.

More information can be found in the Arts and Science Academic Honesty Guidelines, posted in the Course Overview on D2L.
