Introduction:

During this final advanced beginner practicum-based course, students will refine their previous clinical experiences by focusing on high acuity patient cases. Students combine knowledge from all prior courses to perform radiographic procedures in varied practice situations and for varied patient types. Term objectives will remain on examinations of the entire skeleton (including cranium), chest, abdomen, and gastrointestinal contrast studies.

Students observe and participate in advanced radiographic procedures and specialty imaging modalities. Students will be scheduled in all areas related to patient imaging practice such as general imaging department, acute/trauma areas, operating room, patient wards and outpatient clinics. In addition, students will be directed to complete their required Fluoroscopy, Operating Room and CT scan rotations. This includes performing CT scans of the head, thorax, abdomen/pelvis and spine.

Students practice under direct and indirect supervision and receive feedback on their developing skills from qualified Medical Radiation Technologists.
