| 3. Personal Reflection – Due Feb28 | 20% |
| 4. Term paper based on UBC-Due March 30 | 40% |

Assignments

1. Attendance and Participation 20%

Students are expected to attend all classes to learn, share ideas, and dialogue with one another. Participation through group discussions, written assignments, and interacting with guest speakers are critical to the successful progression of this course. Your engagements with other students will enrich the classroom learning and benefit your assignments. Due to the nature of the course, you are expected to attend each class unless previously arranged with the instructor. Your attendance is essential and students need to attend 80% of the classes in order to succeed in this course. All written assignments are due by midnight at the latest on due dates. Late papers are subject to a 5% penalty per day.

2. Critical Analysis Review Paper 20%

Students are expected to reflect on one of the guest speakers and/or films and write a critical analysis review of the main points from one of the themes in the course, a film or guest lecture. Critical analysis reviews are not simple summaries of the guest's lecture or film and are to be a response to the points and arguments that were discussed in the class.

Students should consider the following: what are your points of view based on? Why are these points of view important or not to your analysis? Do you agree or disagree with what a guest or film talked about and why or why not? It is important to reflect on strategies for revitalization and self-determination. Be sure to support your analysis with articles and/or class discussions. Length is 5-6 pages.

Critical analysis reviews must reference at least three of the class readings (or outside sources) related to the topic discussed plus the guest speaker or film for a total of four. Be sure to document all of your sources thoroughly and accurately-APA style. Title page, introduction, review, and conclusion are essential.

3. Personal Reflection 20%

Assignment 3, Personal Reflection, will help you assess your own grasp of the materials starting from the first week on into the mid-point of the course. To do well in this assignment, you will need to link the comparative Indigenous issues to the impact of historical and contemporary issues discussed to the realities facing Indigenous peoples, their families and communities today. Before you begin your assignment, review what you have learned from the readings, guest speakers and films. You must demonstrate your ability to integrate these learning(s) into your assignment. Length is 3-4 pages. Use first person, be creative and have fun with this assignment!

4) Term Paper- Summary and Critical Analysis paper based on the Keynote talk Friday or UBC Indigenous Symposium Saturday 40%

A 7 - 9 page paper is required on March 30 by midnight, which will answer the following:

- FOCUS ON Keynote speech by Rob Joseph or INDIGENOUS GRADUATE SEMINAR
- Describe (summarize) key themes of the keynote talk or Indigenous symposium, for the Saturday symposium, you can focus on one particular presentation that you viewed or several themes
- How do these teachings help you understand Indigenous philosophies/ knowledges?
- How can these teachings be of benefit on an individual, community/nation level?
- How will these teachings inform the future towards self- determination for Indigenous peoples?

A title page, works cited page and references page (with 4 sources cited) with intro/conclusion is expected for this assignment. You may choose to do a video AND Written summary of this assignment in lieu. See instructor by the end of January if you are interested in this option.

Instructional Policies

1. Late Assignments

All assignments must be complete and submitted on the date assigned. All written work that is late will be penalized by 5% per day unless an extension is legitimately warranted and approved by the instructor in advance of the assignment due date. Students must attend 80% of the classes to pass the course

2. Written Assignment Requirements

All written assignments are due as scheduled above and must have a title page, Works Cited or References page. APA referencing required. Written assignments must be typewritten, double-spaced, and referencing/citation must be consistent. Assignments should be turned in to the instructor personally; assignments put under the door, in the mail, or otherwise submitted will not be accepted without approval from the instructor. If submission of an assignment is problematic, contact the instructor prior to the due date.

3. Assignment Preparation

The instructor is available to assist students in the preparation and planning of all course assignments. Please contact the instructor to make an appointment. If you require an extension or support for an assignment, contact the instructor before the due date.

4. Plagiarism, Cheating, and Academic Dishonesty

If plagiarism, cheating, or academic dishonesty can be documented, the penalty will be an automatic “zero” on the assignment in question. Camosun College’s policy on Plagiarism can be found here: <http://camosun.ca/about/policies/education-academic/e-2-student-services-&-support/e-2.5.1.pdf>
