IST 120-B01 Introduction to Indigenous Peoples: TELTIN TTE WILNEW 2018F

COURSE OUTLINE

TELFIN TTE WILNEW, is a SENĆOTEN phrase meaning "Understanding Indigenous People." This unique, award-winning course is intended for students unfamiliar with Indigenous world-views. Participants will learn from Indigenous people about Indigenous worldviews and colonization through video, audio interviews, radio shows and scholarly articles. The purpose of the course is to dispel stereotypes and myths, to enable learners to understand the experience of Aboriginal peoples in a Canadian context, and to equip them with the knowledge and skills to begin to interact respectfully with Aboriginal peoples in community and in the workplace. Discussions are conducted in circle format with an Aboriginal facilitator.

 Ω Please note: This outline will not be kept indefinitely. It is recommended students keep this outline for their records, especially to assist in transfer credit to post-secondary institutions.

5. Basis of Student Assessment (Weighting)

a) Attendance and Participation in Circle Discussion (45%)

Attendance and active participation is a crucial part of learning and a very important part of this course. Being prepared for discussions includes making sure you are on time, the modules are viewed, readings are done and you are ready to participate.

Missing a session is an automatic 7.5% deduction.

b) Online Discussion Posts (15%)

Each module has a discussion question concluding the section. Posts are responses to the initial question and a chance to dialogue with fellow classmates on their posts. Posts are meant to be brief (1-2 paragraphs).

To earn full marks for this assignment students must complete a minimum of 3 discussion question posts and respond to 1 posted discussion (not your own).

Note: Discussion questions close after 2 weeks.

d) Critical Reflections (40%)

Each student must write two critical reflections for this course. The critical reflections should draw on the course discussions, films, readings, and/or face-to-face sessions.

Each critical reflection can have a short introduction that summarizes what you will be writing about. BUT remember that you are critically reflecting and NOT summarizing. Use this opportunity to critically reflect and show the instructor that you have a deeper understanding of the topic you are writing about. Critical reflections should be more comprehensive than the discussion posts.

Possible questions to ask yourself while writing:

- 1. What was interesting about the topic? (or not)
- 2. Why was it interesting or not?
- 3. How do you relate to the topic or how will you incorporate your learning into your life?

Critical reflections must be 2-3 typed pages, double spaced, 12 pt. font. You may use any citation style as long as you are consistent throughout the paper.

Critical reflections are due at the face-to-face class after your topic week.
