for Exchange Students

Welcome to your home away from home!

University Housing at Hallym University is convenient, comfortable and a great way to meet other Hallym students and get involved on campus. You'll meet students from all over the world, many with vastly differing backgrounds, but often with similar goals: to succeed academically, to discover their on campus community and to learn more about themselves and others.

As a resident student at Hallym University, you have the opportunity of independence and privacy, while enjoying proximity to classes and activities and the support and services provided by the University Housing staff. Please note, for security reasons, you can only access the dorm that you are living in. You cannot visit friends, living in other dorms. - Language Regulation Hallym International Dormitory (HID) is an intensive language and culture program in Hallym University. Korean students who are interested in developing their language and cultural understanding live and study together with visiting exchange students.

- Minimum contract period: one semester
- COST: 724,000 won per semester (4 months) including all utilities (water, heat, electricity, internet) without meal plan. Shared Kitchen facilities, an ideal place to get together and cook! (only students living in HID can use these facilities).

ROOM FEATURES:

- 3 students share one room
- Desks & Chairs
- Wardrobes
- LAN & Wireless

The dormitory is organized into four different language sections (English / Chinese / Japanese / Russian). As an exchange student at Hallym University you can apply to live in HID as a resident. Your Language ability should be an intermediate level good enough to use for everyday living. (English Floor: over intermediate / Japanese: over intermediate / Chinese: over intermediate / Russian: over intermediate)

As a resident in the program, you may attend a 2-hour weekly seminar for a period of ten weeks. The seminar is for the Korean students to discuss their studies and projects. Your role would be to simply join the discussions. (If you are selected to tutor, you MUST attend these lectures, and lead some of them). Through this, everyone can learn more about different cultures. You will share a room with two Korean students. Therefore, you will have many opportunities to learn more about Korea, and build new friendships. Most students consider the friendships and memories as the most rewarding aspect of their time in HID.

Due to the limited space available in the dormitory, it may be necessary for all students to be interviewed. For students overseas, this can be done over the phone. The phone interview will take approximately 10 minutes.

The purpose of the interview is to assess your suitability to the program as well as your understanding of cultural diversity, the selection process. Selection may also be based on the quality of your application and its timely submission (meeting submission deadlines and following the guidelines and procedures).

Exchange Student Tutors (If selected for HID – you will know this before you arrive in Korea), you can apply for the tutoring roles, before you arrive at Hallym University, (via the dorm application form). All students who have applied to tutor will then be interviewed on campus, during the first week at Hallym University. The successful students will then be notified shortly after the on campus interview.

Exchange student tutors should be proficient in Foreign Languages (English, Japanese, Russian and Chinese) at an academic level. They should also have the maturity, organizational skills, and leadership skills to lead a group of Korean students in their study. They will be selected through an interview in the first week of the semester:

As a tutor, you will be required to:

- Attend 2 hours of lecture and host 2 hours of seminar per week (compulsory, refusal to do so will lead to expulsion from HID). The lectures focus on developing understanding of current issues through student-driven discussions. The work is designed to encourage students to look at topics and issues in new ways from a different cultural perspective. Seminars are held during the evenings in which groups of 5-7 students work in teams on a variety of lecture related work and language development.
- Attend a small number of events throughout the semester that all students are encouraged to assist students with their language development and cultural understanding. This is usually done on an informal basis.

As a tutor, you will be compensated with:

- Free accommodations for the whole semester (valued at 724,000won).
- A scholarship ranging from 300,000 won to 600,000 won. (The final amount depends on an assessment of your participation in the program and the amount of student tutors).
